Presentation format:

The program sessions run by region. Each region must choose one presenter as chair of the session. The chair keeps track of time. We encourage each presenter to introduce him or herself.

Within each session, each presenter will get 10-15 minutes of speaking time. Posters, Power-Points, handouts, or just the spoken word can be used as preferred.

We encourage each presenter to address his/her (a) personal background (university, country, scientific training, research group), (b) main research topic and specific interests in couples research, and (c) give a short insight into specific work based on the submitted abstract.

This format focuses a bit more on "getting to know" the researcher compared to traditional conference presentations. To model this format for presentation, members of the committee will go first and present people, topics, and studies from Denmark and Switzerland.

We will meet in the Stable Auditorium (C):
