

Studies in Palmyrene Archaeology and History

The oasis city of Palmyra in the Syrian Desert, a major centre of trade, politics, and religious practice in the ancient world, is a world-renowned site. Although Palmyra was the focus of historical study and discussion from as early as the twelfth century, knowledge of the city's existence was then 'lost' to the western world, before it was rediscovered by Europeans in the seventeenth century. Since this time, scholarly interest in the city has continued to develop, and many aspects of the city's archaeology and history have been addressed. This series provides a unique publication forum intended to draw together various international research traditions about Palmyra, and to make them available in one place for the first time. The series welcomes both monographs and edited collections addressing a variety of subjects connected with Palmyra, including archaeology, history, and historiographic and cultural heritage publications, as well as museum and collection studies.

Method of peer review: Double-blind undertaken by a member of the Editorial Board or an external specialist

Fields of interest: Historical, cultural, and religious studies, also including areas such as art history, philosophy, archeology, anthropology, and social sciences

Geographical scope: Palestine and Near East

Chronological scope: Antiquity

General Editors

Rubina Raja, Aarhus Universitet
rubina.raja@cas.au.dk

Publishing Manager

Rosie Bonté
rosie.bonte@brepols.net

Editorial Board

Ted KAIZER, (Palmyrene religion and history)
Eivind SELAND, (Palmyrene hinterland and trade)
Maura HEYN (Palmyrene iconography and gender studies)
Jean-Baptiste YON (Palmyrene epigraphy and history)
Emanuele INTAGLIATA (post-antique Palmyra)

Submissions

This series warmly welcomes volume proposals for both monographs and thematically coherent essay collections.

Main Language(s) accepted: English

Additional languages: French, German, Italian, Spanish

Author Information

Brepols Publishers' general guidelines in English and a proposal form for authors and editors are available at:

<http://www.brepols.net/Pages/Getfile.aspx?dlfi=88>

All volumes in this series are evaluated by an Editorial Board, strictly on academic grounds, based on reports prepared by referees who have been commissioned by virtue of their specialism in the appropriate field. The Board ensures that the screening is done independently and without conflicts of interest. The definitive texts supplied by authors are also subject to review by the Board before being approved for publication.

Why Publish with Brepols?

- Authors work closely with, and benefit from, the expertise of the Editorial Board.
- Comprehensive peer review ensures books published with Brepols have a reputation for high-quality scholarship.
- Continuity of care — authors work with the same publishing manager throughout the publication process.
- We offer comprehensive copyediting by experienced editors with a background in archaeology and history.
- All volumes published with Brepols are distributed and marketed worldwide.